a noticeman thirty feet away started toward him, yelling the alarm."

Several trolley inspectors started from the eastern side and motormen and truck drivers joined the chase. They arrived too late.

As the first man reached the spot Bryant balanced himself carefully and leaped off into space. He shot down like a plummet for about thirty feet when the parachute filled.

The stangest part of the performance is that a police sergeant and several men who knew the leap was to be made were watching the span at the time. Bryant is twenty-two years old and an
